

CLIPIX

Clipix is a comprehensive OTT and video streaming app template designed for building modern entertainment platforms across mobile, tablet, and Android TV devices. The template enables users to discover, stream, and manage movies, web series, and live content through an intuitive and engaging interface. It includes features such as advanced content search, watchlists, user reviews and ratings, subscription management, profile customization, and support for premium and non-premium user experiences. With built-in multi-language support and dedicated Android TV compatibility, Clipix helps extend content accessibility across multiple platforms and audiences. Built with a modern user interface, scalable architecture, and optimized codebase, Clipix delivers smooth streaming performance, easy customization, and seamless integration, making it an ideal foundation for developing professional OTT, video-on-demand, and digital entertainment applications.
