

DOCTOWORLD

DoctoWorld is a comprehensive healthcare solution that includes both mobile app and website templates for building modern medical service and patient management platforms. The template features dedicated User, Doctor, and Delivery modules that streamline healthcare access, appointment scheduling, and medicine delivery services. Patients can book doctor appointments, order medicines, manage medical records, receive pill reminders, make secure payments, and track orders through a unified interface. Doctors can manage appointments, update availability, and access patient information to support efficient practice management, while delivery personnel can handle medicine deliveries with real-time tracking and status updates. Additional features include hospital and doctor directories, detailed profiles, ratings and reviews, appointment history, wallet integration, and healthcare service information. Built with a modern user interface, scalable architecture, and well-structured codebase, DoctoWorld provides a reliable foundation for developing healthcare, telemedicine, clinic management, and online pharmacy applications.
