

QFOOD

QFoods is a multi-restaurant food ordering app template designed to build complete food delivery, dining, and booking management platforms. It provides a structured ecosystem that connects customers, restaurants, and delivery personnel through three dedicated modules. The User module enables menu browsing, order placement, table reservations, promo code usage, order tracking, and wallet-based payments. The Vendor module allows restaurants to manage menus, process orders, handle reservations, and monitor operational performance. The Delivery module supports real-time order assignment, status updates, route navigation, customer chat, and schedule management. Built with a clean, modular, and scalable architecture, QFoods ensures high performance, easy customization, and a reliable foundation for launching or upgrading multi-restaurant food service applications.
